UNIQUE DISPLAY FOR STATE FAIR

State Health Department Undertakes Educational Movement.

OBJECT LESSONS ARE GIVEN

Breathing Dolls Show Effect of Sleeping in Room With Windows Closed.

Visitors at the Illinois state fair this year are to be afforded the opportunity of seeing the most unique and highly instructive health exhibit yet shown in this country.

Seven large booths will be occupied by this exhibit in the balcony of the Exposition building, and among the most interesting features will be the following:

As an effective method of calling public attention to the importance of proper ventilation of living rooms, nothing has yet been devised that equals the so-called "breathing dolls."

The public looking into a miniature house, set in the midst of a picturesque garden, see the interior of two sleeping rooms, one room with doors and windows open, the other with doors and windows closed.

As it leaves the nostrils, just as we see our breath on a frosty morning. In the room with closed windows and doors, the unventilated room, the air soon becomes so thick and foul that the figures in bed can hardly be seen, whereas in the room with open windows, the air keeps clear and fresh.

The contrast in the air conditions of the closed and the open room is so striking as to leave a lasting impression upon the mind of the observer. The remedy—the open windows—is apparent to all.

The public health authorities of the state realizing that there is no health issue paramount to that of promoting proper ventilation of all buildings and encouraging more of the outdoor life are devoting two booths to exhibits intended to impress this fact upon the public mind.

When one stops to consider that improper ventilation and foul air are chiefly responsible for the development of the two diseases—tuberculosis and pneumonia—which kill upwards of 20,000 citizens of this state every year, the need of popular instruction along these lines is at once apparent.

In the Child Hygiene and Infant Welfare sections of the state health department's exhibit there will be much of great popular interest. First of all, there will be a mechanical device demonstrating the extremely high death rate prevailing among infants in this state.

Having impressed the needlessly high baby death rate upon the mind, the department then proceeds to show parents, especially mothers, how this awful slaughter can be avoided.

Prominent among the mechanical devices employed for this purpose is one showing the filthy fly in action—its passage through the air from sources of filth and infection to the food on the dining room table.

In this section also will be found microscopic demonstrations of germ life—the typhoid bacillus being shown in action.

For the Farm and Small Town. In the section devoted to matters of rural hygiene, the Illinois state war survey in cooperation with the state board of health, will show some practical solutions of farm and small community sanitation problems.

Water purification and sewage disposal installations will be shown, approved types of farm toilets, etc., will be explained and plans and specifications for same will be furnished gratis.

Distributed throughout the exhibit will be numerous other educational devices which will attract general public attention, such as puzzles for public solution, illusions, tests of skill, etc.

The exhibit in its entirety is new and original, all mechanical devices and all special exhibit pieces having been developed by the present secretary of the Illinois state board of health.

health. After being shown at the state fair, it will be made part of a traveling health exhibit for showing in all parts of the state.

Plan to Pave Hill District by Private Contract Falls Through.

The property owners in the Twenty-first street paving district on the hill have receded from their stand taken some time ago when on petition the city council gave them the right to lay concrete or macadam streets by private contract.

Tuesday evening a meeting was held. Property owners on Twenty-first street between Sixteenth and Twentieth avenues were present, as were those on Sixteenth and Twentieth avenues between Twentieth and Twenty-second streets.

Those present at the meeting voted unanimously to give charge of the work of paving the district over to the board of local improvements, claiming that they found it expedient to do so.

Seven large booths will be occupied by this exhibit in the balcony of the Exposition building, and among the most interesting features will be the following:

The Shake-up A Smashing Record

(Private Car Excursion, Tuesday, Sept. 15th and Oct. 6th).

THE OLD WORLD is getting the "shake-up" of its life. European governments are jarred to their foundations. Asia is commencing to vibrate with war.

AMERICA'S FOREIGN COMMERCE has been paralyzed and thus hundreds of thousands of American citizens have been jarred out of their jobs. Yes, thrown out of work in the face of rising prices for food, clothing, medicines, and most all necessities.

I FEEL the shake-up in my business. A whole lot of men who have been thrown on their own resources are taking to the land. Last Tuesday I had a smashing big excursion, the largest in the history of my business, and sales broke all records for 18 years.

SEND TODAY for my 72-page book of the lands. It shows 115 views in this Tract, which lies principally in Mason, Manistee, Lake and Wexford Counties. It describes our crops of clover, alfalfa, corn, vetch, rye, oats, wheat, vegetables and fruits. Also get my large map.

GET POSTED on the big work of my land organization, the largest and most successful in the U. S. I maintain a corps of agricultural experts on the lands. They regularly visit every settler. I am developing one of the biggest apple orchards in this country.

THE SWIGART PLAN saves the wage-earner from getting ground up between increased cost of living and reduced pay from layoffs. Start now while you still have the chance. Make the small initial payment and commence the gradual acquirement of a piece of land where you can grow your own food—grains, vegetables, beef, mutton, pork, eggs and poultry. Put your money in land where it can be working for you instead of letting it remain tied up in savings banks.

JUST BECAUSE of the present big rush for my lands, I have raised the prices. They are raising themselves fast enough from the development going on. But I am holding prices down for the season at $10 to $35 per acre and much of the best lying land at $18 per acre. With recent additions I have 50,000 acres still for sale. Come now while the choosing is best. Terms, $10 to $50 down and seven years to pay out on monthly payments of $5 to $10 per month on 40 acres. Annual payments if preferred. Often 5 and 10 acres of potatoes in one season pays back the cost of an entire 40 acres.

MY NEXT TWO PRIVATE CAR EXCURSIONS will be Tuesdays, Sept. 15th and Oct. 6th, by the P. M. R. R., leaving my general offices at 11:30 a. m. Fare, $8.30 round trip to Wellston, my Michigan headquarters, rebated on purchase. You get back to Chicago 7:20 a. m. Thursday or Friday of the same week. Automobiles and guides free.
